Prayer by Rev. J. D. Meade.

On motion of Mr. A. E. Smith, the reading of the journal of Friday, May 19th, was dispensed with and the same was approved.

A message from the Governor was received and read, in the words following:

STATE OF NEW YORK — EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,

ALBANY, May 18, 1911.

To the Assembly:

I herewith return, without my approval, Assembly bill (Printed No. 339), entitled "An act to provide for the purchase of additional lands for the armory of the Thirty-fourth Separate Company of the National Guard at the city of Geneva, and making an appropriation therefor."

This bill appropriates the sum of $4,600 for acquiring additional land in the city of Geneva for the State armory located in such city. I am of the opinion that it is unwise to make this appropriation at this time, and therefore I disapprove the bill.

JOHN A. DIX.

On motion of Mr. Wilson, said message together with said bill was ordered laid upon the table.

A message from the Governor was received and read, in the words following:

STATE OF NEW YORK — EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,

ALBANY, May 18, 1911.

To the Assembly:

I herewith return, without my approval, Assembly bill (Printed No. 1295), entitled "An act to amend chapter twenty-nine of the Laws of nineteen hundred and nine, entitled 'An act relating to municipal corporations, constituting chapter twenty-four of the Consolidated Laws,' in relation to exempt volunteer firemen."

This bill is objected to and not approved for the reason that it is special legislation in the interests of people who have not served the full required period of five years to be entitled to the exemption which the general law now provides for exempt volunteer firemen. It provides that if a person has served seven months each year for the period of five years, he shall be entitled to such exemption. If the Legislature can make this seven months for five years they can make it four months in each year or a less number of months in each year.

I therefore disapprove the bill.

JOHN A. DIX.

On motion of Mr. Geatons, said message together with said bill was ordered laid upon the table.

A message from the Governor was received and read, in the words following:

STATE OF NEW YORK — EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,

ALBANY, May 18, 1911.

To the Assembly:

I herewith return, without my approval, Assembly bill (Printed No. 660), entitled "An act to amend chapter two hundred and forty-two of the Laws of nineteen hundred and six, entitled 'An act to amend, revise and consolidate the charter of the village of Ossining, and to extend the boundaries of said village,' relative to village boundaries."

This bill amends section 1 of the charter of Ossining, in relation to the boundaries of the village. The matter included in this amendatory act was included in chapter 667 of the Laws of 1910, and is absolutely unnecessary.

In addition, the acts referred to in section 1 of this bill, namely, chapter 242 of the Laws of 1906 and chapter 264 of the Laws of 1909, were specifically repealed by chapter 667 of the Laws of 1910.

I therefore disapprove the bill.

JOHN A. DIX.

On motion of Mr. Young, said message together with said bill was ordered laid upon the table.

A message from the Governor was received and read, in the words following:

STATE OF NEW YORK — EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,

ALBANY, May 18, 1911.

To the Assembly:

I herewith return, without my approval, Assembly bill (Printed No. 75), entitled "An act to amend the Forest, Fish and Game Law, in regard to open season for lake trout and whitefish."

This bill is objected to for the reason that it permits the taking of whitefish of whatever size, which in my judgment is most unwise.

It is also objected to on the ground that it is defectively drafted, in that in section 1 it provides that section 109 of the Laws of 1909 is amended, when it should be section 109 of chapter 24 of the Laws of 1909.

For these reasons the bill is disapproved.

No. 1727), entitled "An act to amend section six of chapter twenty-nine of the Laws of nineteen hundred and nine, being the General Municipal Law, entitled 'An act relating to municipal corporations, constituting chapter twenty-four of the Consolidated Laws,' as amended by chapter six hundred and seventy-seven of the Laws of nineteen hundred and ten, in relation to funded debts."

On motion of Mr. Foley, said bill was read the second time and ordered to a third reading.

Said bill was then read the third time, having been printed and upon the desks of the members in its final form at least three calendar legislative days prior to its final passage.

Mr. Speaker put the question whether the House would agree to the final passage of said bill, and it was determined in the affirmative, a majority of all the members elected to the Assembly voting in favor thereof, and three-fifths being present.

Ordered, That the Clerk engross said bill and deliver the same to the Senate and request their concurrence therein.

At 12:15 o'clock P. M., pursuant to concurrent resolution, the House took a recess of one hour.

The Senate appeared in the Assembly Chamber, the Lieutenant-Governor presiding.

President Conway: Members of the joint assembly, and citizens. We are confronted to-day by problems in civil government of the gravest moment. Indeed, so much so, that many of the more timid are inclined to despair of the future of our institutions. Happily, however, there are others more courageous and optimistic. They are in the great majority, men who take no such pessimistic views. These questions will be settled but they never will be finally settled until they are rightly settled. The agency of the ballot is the weapon by which that result will be reached. And we can look for it when the great majority of voters of this country will not only be satisfied to cast a ballot, but when they are determined to see to it, that that ballot represents conscience and conviction and judgment. The aroused intelligence of the people is one of the chief needs of the times, as it will tend to arouse in each individual the responsibility for political action.

No man has done more to stimulate public sentiment along these lines, to awaken in the individual the importance of calling into play, conscience and judgment in the discharge of his political duty than has the distinguished gentleman whom I have the privilege and honor to present to you, the Hon. William Jennings Bryan.

Mr. Bryan: Gentlemen of the Senate and House, ladies and gentlemen. I appreciate the honor that is done me by the Legislature in extending an invitation to address them.

I appreciate, too, the very kind words spoken by the President of the Senate in presenting me to you.

I came to New York, at this time, with a pleasure a little greater than I have enjoyed on any previous visit. I come to speak to a Legislature, that is in a political sense in harmony with the party with which I have been connected all my life, and I hope it will not be considered improper if I say that while I have grown more liberal in my views, as the years have gone by, and have welcomed the Republicans to a larger share in my confidence than I once did, that while I have been compelled to admit that there were some bad Democrats and many good Republicans, still I am just a little partial to the Democrats. And I am glad to address a Legislature that has a majority of the party with which I am connected, and pledged to the carrying out of policies which I am glad to indorse and to advocate with you.

I am glad to come at a time, too, when I can bring a message to you, and a very hearty message from the people outside of New York.

You had a prolonged senatorial contest, and we know that it is not always possible for a legislative contest of this kind to be settled with satisfaction to the party in the State and to the party outside of the State, but I think I can speak with assurance that I represent a very large sentiment in the party, when I say that the party of the nation rejoices that New York has in the United States Senate so stalwart a representative of Democratic ideas. For, however much you may have differed as to the availability of different candidates, how much you have differed in the degree of friendship which you felt toward different aspirants, I think there can be no doubt, no disputing the fact that when you elected Judge O'Gorman to the Senate, you sent a man who measured up to the requirements of that great office, and one who carries into the work a sympathy with the whole people and a courage sufficient to enable him to manifest that sympathy in the votes that he will cast. And speaking as a Democrat outside of New York, I rejoice at the apparent harmonizing of the differences of opinion in all sections and no one can rejoice more than I, that our party to-day seems to stand for the same things in all parts of the country.

I possibly have had as much reason to regret, as any other member of that party, the lack of harmony that has, at times, appeared in our party, between different sections, and, therefore, I am permitted to rejoice that the causes that disturbed harmony have been removed, and that our party now acts as a united party in the support of doctrines that are accepted throughout the length and breadth of the country. Not only that, but I am glad that I have lived in a time when the sentiments of members of all parties are coming to agree in regard to certain great fundamental reforms.

I shall not attempt to speak to you at length this morning, but I hope you will not think that I have violated any of the proprieties of the occasion, if I call your attention to three things — to three important measures — that illustrate the coming together of the patriotic people of all parties, in favor of certain needed reforms.

The first is the income tax amendment to the Constitution. That is before this Legislature for ratification, and while it was indorsed by the Democratic party in its last national platform, things have happened since then that have robbed this measure of any taint of partizanship. When a Republican President can go to a Democratic platform and take one plank out of it and put it through a Republican Senate, without a dissenting voice, and through a Republican House with only fourteen votes in the negative, I think I can speak of the issue without being accused of raising a partisan question. And when this amendment has been indorsed by about thirty States in this Union and by about as many Republican States, I think, as Democratic States, I think when I say a word in its behalf I shall not be accused of attempting to array party against party. And when this amendment has been ratified, as it has been, not only by a majority of the States but by States in which the Legislatures represent a majority of the people of the United States, I will not be accused of speaking for a faction, or for a minority, when I express the hope that New York will join the majority and not represent a minority on this subject in the country.

If I were bringing to you a doctrine that had indorsement only in certain sections, you might resent it as an attempt to force the idea of others upon this section of this country. But if you will take the list of States, some thirty in number, that have already ratified this amendment, you will find that these States are located in every section of the United States. You will not call this a Western doctrine merely because it has been indorsed on the Pacific coast and in the Mountain States and the Mississippi Valley, for the State farthest northeast has indorsed it; Maine has also cast the weight of her influence in favor of the ratification of the amendment. New Hampshire ratified it as far as one body of the Legislature could, and that body that most immediately represents the voters of New Hampshire; and the same is true of New Jersey; and I believe one body of the Massachusetts Legislature also acted favorably, and I am informed that the other body defeated it only by a small majority.

But I need not go away from New York, for when this question was up a year ago, one branch of your Legislature ratified it and it was defeated in the other branch by only one vote, and that vote was cast by one who in casting it violated the pledges of the platform by which he was elected to the Legislature. So, my friends, I am not speaking for other sections, I am speaking for this section as well as for others, and I beg to express the hope that before this Legislature adjourns, New York will add the weight of her great influence to this reform that is spreading through the country.

I notice some comment on what I have said. I have been in public life now for twenty-one years, and I never, knowingly, said a thing that I did not believe to be true or make a criticism that I did not believe to be just. I have been quick to correct any mistake I have made, or to withdraw any criticism that I have uttered and if the statement I have made is not a correct one, I shall be glad to be informed that I may make a correction at this time.

A Voice: It is correct.

Mr. Bryan: Am I mistaken, then, when I say that the Senate indorsed this a year ago?

A Voice: No, it did.

Mr. Bryan: Am I mistaken when I say it was defeated in the House by one vote.

A Voice: No.

A Voice: Yes.

Mr. Bryan: Am I mistaken when I say that the one man whose vote defeated it was elected upon a platform which declared in favor of it?

A Voice: No.

A Voice: Yes.

Mr. Bryan: I did not know but from some of the comments I had made a mistake, and I was not willing to pass it by, if it had been a mistake.

Senator McClelland: We are all agreed.

Mr. Bryan: I might add, that following the conservative nature which you have not been always quick to recognize, I did not say as much as I might have said, and yet been entirely within the reports that I have read.

Now, my friends, I have said what I have said in order that I might lay the foundation for what I would like to say. I built on the largest foundation first and suggested to you that this question is not a sectional question; that it is not a partisan question, and I have invoked the example of the action of States in your own neighborhood, and at home, to show that there is a strong sentiment in favor of this.

Now let me present what I believe is a conclusive argument in favor of affirmative action by this Legislature. If I am correctly informed, the Democratic platform in this State, last fall, specifically indorsed the ratification of this income tax amendment. Am I correct in that?

A Voice: No.

Mr. Bryan: Is that not true?

Mr. Terry: It said an amendment.

Voice: Yes, that is true.

Assemblyman Terry: Not that one.

Mr. Bryan: Well, let me — is it possible that your platforms in New York are not specific enough for you to understand what they indorse? Am I mistaken when I say that your platform indorsed this amendment?

Assemblyman Murray: You are right.

Senator McClelland: Senator Grady will answer that, sir.

Mr. Bryan: Well, gentlemen, if the platform indorsed it, then I submit that it is a violation of the fundamental doctrine of republican government for any man elected upon such a platform to vote against the indorsement of this amendment, unless in that campaign he openly repudiated it and told his constituents that he would not be bound by the platform.

I believe that a platform is a binding contract between the man who is the candidate and those whose votes he asks. And if I understand the principles of free government, the man who accepts an election on a platform pledging him to a certain position on a public question, and then violates it, can learn morals of those in the penitentiary who have obtained money under false pretenses.

For government is more valuable than money. Authority is a thing more sacred than dollars and cents, and we show a very low estimate of morality when we punish a petty thief for taking money that belongs to somebody else entrusted to him in confidence and then allow to go unwhipped the man who secures a public position and then embezzles the power the people have put in his hands. If a platform is not binding, then it is worse than useless. It is a fraud, not merely a nonentity.

I assume, therefore, if the platform pledges the party to this that the party will carry it out. And if the party does not, then I assume there is intelligence enough among the voters to teach those who fail a lesson that will make others wiser when they come before them.

My friends, this is not a small matter. We have a Constitution now that is so construed by the courts that we have put the dollar above the man in the matter of Federal taxation. In an hour of peril this government can lay its hand upon the citizen and take him from his home, the husband from the wife, the father from his child, and put them up in front of an enemy's gun; the government has the right to demand the life blood of the citizen in support of the government. And yet, in the hour of peril, this government has not the right to lay its hand upon the property of the citizen and compel that property to bear its share of the expenses of the government that protects it.

It is the purpose of this amendment of the Constitution to lift man to the level of the dollar and give this government as much power when it deals with the citizen's pocketbook as when it deals with the citizen.

And when this need is so imperative that a Republican President can enforce the demand through the language of a Democratic platform, and when every Senator, Republican and Democratic, votes to submit it, and when in the House every Republican and Democrat but fourteen voted to submit it, it seems to me that they have described a situation that is so imperative that it does not require a long consultation in order to secure action on this subject.

Let no representatives of corporate interests tell you that you can safely ignore the almost unanimous demand of the American people. Of course, there will be objections to this law. There is objection to all law which seeks to establish justice among men. Every reform that is undertaken is opposed by those who profit by the thing to be reformed. And, of course, there will be an objection to an income tax. There was seventeen years ago when the Income Tax Law was written, and that opposition at that time was so strong that those who opposed it were able to mislead many as to its need, but seventeen years have passed, and they have been years of education among the people and you cannot deceive people now with the arguments that were potent to deceive them then.

The people now understand the helplessness of government in time of danger, and this amendment is intended to remedy that condition and to restore the power to our Congress that Congress ought to have.

It may be there is danger of this power being abused. There is danger of all power being abused. Is there not danger of the Congress abusing the power that it has to make every able-bodied citizen bear arms, and yet you would not take that power from Congress. You tell me that merely because they may write a law that you do not like that, therefore, you will not permit them to write a law at all on the subject. As well might you say you might not favor a republican form of government unless you were sure that your party would also control it and that the man that you preferred would be elected President each time.

We favor the ideas of republican government, no matter which party controls. I am a Democrat. I have been reared as one, and it is in my bone and blood, but I believe in the doctrines of a republican form of government, and if I knew that my children and my children's children to the remotest generation would live under those that did not agree with me in opinion, I would still vote for the government and take the chance of my children under it.

And I am willing that a Congress that has the right to say when my sons and my sons' sons shall serve their country and sacrifice their lives for it, if need be, I am willing that the Congress which has the power to do that, shall have the right to tax the property of those who may come under it.

And that is the question that is presented. And I trust that this great State of New York, the financial center of this nation, will announce its willingness to favor a proposition that is just, and that those men in your State who make money out of business with all other sections, will rise up and announce that they are willing to bear their share, and will not throw upon others the burden that they themselves should bear in matters of taxation.

But whether you favor the adoption of an income tax at this time, or not, the question is whether your government will be powerless, or whether you will empower it to act on its discretion when the time comes, when the government thinks it should act. Surely, with this amendment submitted as it was by almost unanimous action of the authorities at Washington, ratified as it has been by the States without regard to party, and without regard to sections, surely, a State like this State, with a Democratic majority in both branches of the Legislature, and with the majority committed by platform to this, surely, we can expect that New York will not long delay the value of her indorsement of that great economic reform.

And now, friends, pardon me for speaking with some earnestness on this subject. I am interested in the subject, not in any personal or pecuniary way. I have advocated the income tax and I have always been in a position to have to pay it when I advocated it. And I am going to assume that the average citizen is just as willing to bear the burdens of his government. I am going to assume that those who recognize that our government is powerless, those who now recognize that we have given to money in this country under that Constitution as construed, a position of safety that we have not yet given to man himself, I am going to assume that they, too, feel interested in this subject, and that I have not spoken with more earnestness than the average man would speak, if he expressed himself on this theme. But this is only one of the evidences of the coming together of the people without regard to party in the way of reform. It is the hope of our Nation that the patriotic sentiment of the people can always be appealed to with the assurance of a response that is favorable, whenever an issue becomes great and the people understand the issue.

If any one has ever doubted the good intention of the great majority of the people in this country he has done the people great injustice, for the great majority of the people of all parties mean well; and no one makes a greater mistake than the man who assumes they do not; but it is only when crises arise that we are able to measure the real devotion of the people to fundamental ideas. It is only when an idea is presented and an issue drawn that we understand how quick the people are to weigh and to comprehend and how earnest they are when they do comprehend.

And we have another question now that is approaching solution that demonstrates how universal is the spirit of democracy in this country. And when I say the spirit of democracy I do not mean the spirit of the Democratic party for that is not always as democratic as I would like to see it. Sometimes we call things democratic that are not democratic, but the spirit of democracy, of confidence in the people and the desire to make the government representative of the people is a well-nigh universal sentiment in this country.

The thing that has emphasized that more than any one thing in the last quarter of a century is the fight for the direct election of the Senators by the vote of the people. The fight began nineteen years ago, and it has continued until now, and we are in sight of victory. It has passed the House of Representatives six times, and it passed the Senate a few weeks ago, at least it received a majority of the votes in the Senate, although not quite two-thirds, but it only lacked four of being two-thirds. It has been put upon the calendar of the Senate; I think the vote was sixty-six to five by which it was put upon the calendar, and it will stay there as unfinished business until it is finished by a vote upon the bill. The papers announce that the vote is likely to be taken this week, and the only question that raises any uncertainty there is whether the amendment will be adopted that is proposed by those, a majority of whom will vote for the amendment but will not vote for the resolution if the amendment carries; so that it is not an attempt to perfect this so as to enable them to vote for it, but an attempt to put it in shape where others will not vote for it.

But, my friends, I remind you that when this resolution passed the House it had every vote except fifteen upon the roll call. Only fifteen votes out of nearly 400 were cast against it in the House of Representatives. And there is no doubt that the majority of the members of the Senate are in favor of it, whether it comes to a vote in the form that the Democrats have prepared it, or with the amendment that some of the Republicans would attach to it.

Here is a contest between aristocracy and plutocracy on one side and democracy on the other side.

There are just as many objections to the election of Senators by the people. One is that the people have not sense enough; but that argument is only advanced by those who think that God made them of a superior kind of clay and who from proud prominence looks down on the ordinary man below them. That is the aristocratic sentiment that stands back of the House of Lords, stands back of the aristocratic systems of the old world, but even over there the democratic sentiment is growing until this very day they are approaching the completion of a vote in Great Britain that will reduce the House of Lords from its position of equality to a position secondary to the House represented by the people of Great Britain. And is it possible that in this country we can make less progress in the application of this fundamental democratic doctrine than in the countries of the old world?

The fact that this resolution passed the House by a vote almost unanimous, the fact that some of the States of the Union have already indorsed it, the fact that a majority of the Senate now stands committed to it, these things are evidence of the fact that in those countries as well as elsewhere the trust in the people is an overwhelming trust.

And when this reform succeeds, as I hope it will soon, then we will have an epoch-making agency, and the Senate that has so long stood as the bulwork of predatory interest and insolently and arrogantly denied the people's demand, will become the servant of the people, and then it will be what it ought to have been from the beginning, the highest legislative body in this world.

Another reform that has been making progress is the direct primary.

Am I correct in saying that the Democratic platform indorsed direct platforms.

A Voice: No.

Mr. Bryan: Is it so specific that there can be no doubt about it?

A Voice: Yes.

Mr. Bryan: Well, my friends, your State is simply putting itself in harmony with the other States in the Union.

And the growth of this reform is another evidence the Democratic spirit is not confined to the Democratic party. It is another evidence that this desire to make the people the owners and controllers of their own government is a wide-spread idea.

It is much more pleasant for me to talk down east now than it used to be. When I used to advocate these things I was called a disturber of the peace, but now I can go anywhere without a bodyguard, and these things that were thought monstrous by some a few years ago, are now not only regarded as quite sane and safe, but really absolutely necessary to the welfare of the people. And here in New York it is no longer cause for violent outbreak to suggest that the voters of the party have, after all, more right to control it, than the party bosses have to control it.

If the Declaration of Independence is sane when it says that government derives its just powers from the consent of the governed then it is also sane to say that a party's authority is only just when it is derived from the consent of the voters of the party.

What argument will be given by those who oppose allowing the people to control the party. If in New York there are any who believe that the people should not control, what reason will they give. Will they attack the fundamental doctrines that power comes from the people, or will they say that while in other States, the people have sense enough that in New York, it is admitted that you are inferior to other people, and, therefore, must have people to think for you, to act for you and run your politics for you. What argument will be made, I hope you will not accuse me of flattering the people of New York when I tell you that out west we have always believed that they had as much sense as people anywhere else. That we have never for one moment doubted the intelligence of the people of New York. And we would doubt their intelligence if we doubted their capacity to run their conventions without giving over power to somebody to act for them, to speak for them without consulting them.

And now, my friends, let us assume the rôle of a prophet for a moment. I know it is dangerous for a man to make predictions, and some of my own made in regard to what would happen at a particular time have not come true, but if necessary I could show you that some have come true, afterwards, that did not come true just at the time I thought they would. And I have simply tried to see the direction in which the people were moving and I have great confidence in the fact that they would always move in the right direction and that whether they moved rapidly or slowly you would always find them a little more advanced this year, than last. And I think I am only judging of the trend of events when I say that if you do not adopt this direct primary in this State now, that it is only a question of time when you will, and there is no reason why any other Legislature should be given the credit of doing a good thing when it is within the power of this Legislature to deserve that credit and to secure it. For you may rest assured that the trend in favor of putting government within the hands of the people is no temporary manifestation of a passion or of insanity. It is the trend of all this world, everywhere and in every nation on the globe the trend is toward popular government, and the trend is one that cannot be stayed or turned back.

I am glad that we have back of truth forces that are omnipotent. I am glad that it is not possible for any group of men to throw themselves in the path of progress and stop that progress. I could not worship God as I do, if I thought that He had simply provided for the return of seed time and harvest; I could not worship Him as I do if I thought that He had simply provided that our bodies' wants might be set aside by the growth of the plant and the tree, and has not provided for the triumph of those great reforms upon which our life and our happiness depend.

Back of every true principle there is an irresistible force in every human heart, there is a sense of justice and that sense of justice is the hope of free institutions in the world. That sense of justice is being appealed to, and in other States that sense of justice is bringing a response.

When the people were made aware of the fact that we were powerless to tax incomes, even in times of danger, and that matter was presented to them, the sense of justice responded, and in most of those States these resolutions endorsing the income tax amendment have passed with scarcely any opposition. When the matter was brought before the people that our Senators were elected in such a way that the will of the people could be defeated, and the will of a powerful minority substituted, that sense of justice responded, and after nineteen years of struggle the victory is won.

When the people found that their functions were being manipulated by men who acted not in the interests of the masses, but in their own interests and in the interest of those who controlled them an appeal was made to the sense of justice for the direct primary, that the government might be put into the hands of the people themselves. And throughout the country this sense of justice is responding. I have no doubt that in the people of New York there is this same sense of justice and that this sense of justice will respond as it has elsewhere.

There are other things that I would like to speak of but I have talked now longer than I ought to, and I am borrowing time from another engagement.

I appreciate the compliment you pay me when you invite me here and listen to me. What I have said is not presented by my authority, I am not vain enough to think that any word of mine resting merely upon my authority would have weight with you or with others. I have simply told you what others were doing. I have simply pointed out the great forces that are at work, and expressed my gratification that these forces are so powerful, that in the presence of them party lines disappear, and the spirit of patriotism emerges triumphant and all powerful.

And I conclude by expressing the hope that New York, the greatest State in the Union in accumulated wealth and in population, this great State, with its brilliant record, of great powerful factor in our government will not come limping along at the rear of the procession but will take her place in the front and claim the prestige that she is entitled to by responding early and leading in these movements in which the people are interested.

ONE O'CLOCK AND FIFTEEN MINUTES P. M.

The House again convened.

Mr. Foley in the chair.

Mr. Speaker announced the special order, being the bill (No. 327, Int. No. 326), entitled "An act to amend the General Business Law, relative to the definition of terms, keeping of records in employment agencies, et cetera."

Said bill having been announced,

Mr. Murray moved to recommit said bill to the committee on rules.

Mr. Speaker put the question whether the House would agree to said motion, and it was determined in the negative.

Mr. Speaker: The motion to recommit has been lost. There are 72 votes in the affirmative and 52 in the negative, a total of 124. Under Rule 22 it requires a two-thirds vote of those present and voting to change a special order.

Mr. Murray: Does the Chair decide that this bill is a special order?

Mr. Speaker: The bill is a special order. You will note the calendar: "Special order on second and third reading." The rule is very clear that a two-thirds vote is necessary to change that special order. And a recommittal is a change of the special order the report of the rules committee.

On motion of Mr. Spielberg, said bill was read the second time and ordered to a third reading.

Said bill was then read the third time, having been printed and upon the desks of the members in its final form at least three calendar legislative days prior to its final passage.

Mr. Speaker put the question whether the House would agree to the final passage of said bill, and it was determined in the negative, a majority of all the members elected to the Assembly not voting in favor thereof, and three-fifths being present.

Ordered, That the Clerk engross said bill and deliver the same to the Senate and request their concurrence therein.

Mr. Speaker in the chair.

Mr. Speaker announced the special order, being the bill (No. 244, Int. No. 242), entitled "An act to provide for the expiration of the terms of office of the civil engineers appointed to act as an advisory board of consulting engineers, pursuant to the provisions of chapter one hundred and forty-seven of the Laws of nineteen hundred and three."

Mr. Colne: Mr. Speaker, a point of order. Under Rule 9, that paragraph which states "every bill amending existing laws upon its introduction must in the body of the bill have the new matter printed in italics." This bill does not conform to that provision.

Mr. Speaker: The Chair holds, in line with the precedents of the House and with the expert opinion of the Bill Drafting Department, that the bill is correctly drawn as it appears on the files of the House.

Mr. Colné: Under Rule 8, under that paragraph which says "the title of every bill proposing to amend an existing law, must contain the number of the chapter, the year in which it was enacted and the title of the statute to be amended, together with some brief reference to the subject matter of the proposed amendment." Now, Mr. Speaker, on page 8, line 10, practically treating with section 4, there is mentioned chapter 391 of the Laws of 1909, and there is absolutely no mention whatever in the title of the bill that covers the Utica-Seneca Company.

Mr. Speaker: The Chair holds that the bill is properly drawn.

On motion of Mr. Manley, said bill was read the second time and ordered to a third reading.

Said bill was then read the third time, having been printed and upon the desks of the members in its final form at least three calendar legislative days prior to its final passage.

Mr. Speaker put the question whether the House would agree to the final passage of said bill, and it was determined in the affirmative, a majority of all the members elected to the Assembly voting in favor thereof, and three-fifths being present.

A message from the Governor was received and read, in words following:

STATE OF NEW YORK—EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,

ALBANY, May 25, 1911.

To the Assembly:

I herewith return without my approval, Assembly bill (Printed No. 2025), entitled "An act to amend the State Finance Law, in relation to the education fund."

This bill takes from the Governor and Senate the power of appointment and confirmation of the commissioners for loaning the United States deposit fund, and places the power of appointment in the Comptroller. While it is the policy of the State to discontinue the lending of this fund on mortgage, this bill does not contain any provisions to that end, and I see no reason for the change in the appointing power.

I therefore disapprove the bill.

JOHN A. DIX.

On motion of Mr. A. E. Smith, said motion together with said bill was ordered laid upon the table.

Mr. Foley moved a call of the members of the House.

I observed the minority party during that long period consistently casting its vote for the then incumbent of that exalted office, and surely that was the highest compliment that could have been paid a public citizen by a great party, and deserved by him because of the eminent services performed for his State and his country in various capacities. On the part of the majority there was some divisions in regard to the choice of a Senator; but it was gratifying to know that although that difference of opinion existed and was expressed, that every man whose name was presented possessed high qualifications to fill that office with dignity and ability.

The leading candidate withdrew, not because of any charge or any suspicion that he did not possess the integrity and capacity for that great office, but he did it voluntarily and in order that there might not be an interregnum from the State of New York in the Senate of the United States. It was a patriotic action on his part, and certainly he placed his party in the State under a debt.

There has been a rather widespread demand, or at least strong evidences of it throughout this country, for the election of United States Senators by popular vote. Whether that be a better mode than the one hitherto existing or not, I think every one will agree with me that the choice of this joint assembly has demonstrated the fact that under the existing manner of electing United States Senators, the State of New York and this Legislature are entirely competent to select candidates of the highest qualifications and fitness to serve their State with distinction and with credit to themselves; and the best evidence of this was the selection of the gentleman whom I am about to present to you, the Honorable James A. O'Gorman, United States Senator.

Senator O'Gorman: Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, Gentlemen of the Senate and of the Assembly: I am grateful for your cordial reception, and gladly avail myself of this opportunity to tender my sincere thanks for your recent action in selecting me to represent the State of New York in the Senate of the United States. I appreciate the importance of the responsibilities which I have assumed, and I hope to justify your confidence by a faithful and conscientious effort to meet the requirements of the high office with which you have honored me.

My first and paramount obligation is to the nine millions of people of the State whose commission I bear. The promotion of their happiness and prosperity will be the object of my solicitude during the period of my service in the Senate.

Unlike many of you gentlemen, who have distinguished the public service of the State by your ability and public spirit, I am new to legislative functions. For seventeen years my public activities have been devoted to the judicial service of the State, but I hope that the experience that I acquired on the bench may not be without some value in the discharge of my new duties.

Federal legislation necessarily affects all the States in the Union, but New York, with its vast and varied business enterprises, its large population and its great wealth, has a peculiar interest in national legislation. In a large measure you and I are engaged in a common cause. We are striving to protect, safeguard and advance the welfare of our fellow citizens, and I shall, therefore, always welcome your advice and counsel. I know your co-operation will be helpful to me, and I am sure it will be helpful to the people whom we represent.

At the present time there are pending in Congress the proposed Canadian reciprocal agreement, an amendment to the Constitution that Senators be elected by the direct vote of the people, the application of Arizona for Statehood and a plan to reapportion Congressional districts, measures in which the people of New York are vitally concerned.

The Canadian reciprocity bill has passed the House and is now before the finance committee of the Senate. The bill is designed to promote free and untrammelled commercial intercourse between our country and Canada. Its purpose is to remove the barrier extending along the boundary line for more than 3,000 miles from east to west, which has heretofore been an obstacle to the development of our trade relations. The bill is not without opposition. Many of the farmers in our own and other States claim that it will bear heavily upon them, by exposing them to the competition of the Canadian farmer. We have other industries in some of the border States which also oppose the bill for the same reason.

The President is strong in his advocacy of the measure, and, it is believed, will find sufficient support to secure its enactment. Generally I am in favor of the bill. It promises to benefit the country at large, and no measure of great public utility should be resisted because its passage may involve a comparatively small fraction of our population in some possible or imaginary loss. In this connection, however, it is proposed by supplemental legislation to amply compensate the farmers for whatever loss they may suffer, by placing on the free list many of the articles which they now use or consume.

Another important measure is the proposed amendment to the Constitution, providing for the election of United States Senators by direct vote. Your joint resolution in favor of the amendment was received by me and duly presented to the Senate.

The present method of electing Senators has existed for 122 years. The fathers debated the question in the constitutional convention as to whether the Senators should be elected by direct vote, but finally determined to allow the selection to be made by the Legislatures of the several States. I cannot doubt that this mode of electing United States Senators was adopted because of distrust of the people. It is not necessary to say that it was unwise in view of the conditions then prevailing. The fact is the plan never received general approval.

From time to time, during the past eighty-five years, efforts have been made to change the system, and more than once a similar amendment has received the approval of the House of Representatives. An electorate qualified to vote for a Governor of a State, members of Congress, the State judiciary and Legislature should be deemed qualified to vote for United States Senators. The system of checks and balances devised by the fathers of the republic is preserved in retaining the six year term of a Senator and a two year term of a Representative. It is not necessary to refer to the objections to the present method; they have been frequently discussed. I believe there is a majority in the Senate favorable to the proposed change. I believe public opinion is made upon this subject. The only serious doubt is created by the divergent views respecting a proposed amendment to the joint resolution, which seeks to relieve the election of Senators from Federal supervision as to the time and manner of holding elections.

I know the people of this State are keenly interested in another measure which nominally affects only the people of a distant section of the country. I refer to the Arizona Statehood bill. It was defeated at the last session, but it is now before Congress for consideration. It embraces the initiative, the referendum and the recall. We have sometimes regarded these governmental innovations as peculiar to a few of our extreme western States, but in Maine, the most easterly of our States, both parties, Democrats and Republicans, are now committed to these principles. This policy does not mean the abandonment of the representative system of government. It merely enlarges the reserved power of the people. Its advantages, if any, can be ascertained only after an experimental period.

The feature of the Arizona Constitution that has aroused opposition and provoked discussion is the section providing for the recall of judges.

In substance it is provided, that after a public officer, whether he be judge or other official, has held offices for six months, a new election may be ordered on the petition of 25 per cent. of the voters participating in the last general election.

I am unalterably opposed to the recall of judges. Under such a system it is difficult to conceive of a lawyer of ability and character being willing to accept a judgeship. The new election is practically an impeachment trial, not conducted in an orderly manner, before a responsible, deliberate judicial body where the right of the official may be safeguarded. It is a trial before the people who will attempt to pass upon a judge's conduct — perhaps in a case where he may have rendered a just but unpopular decision. The people will be unfamiliar with the law and the facts involved in the litigation which may provoke the outbreak. A more intolerable judicial system cannot be imagined. It is subversive of every principle of a government of laws. If a judge's ruling should become unpopular, his continuance as a judge may be submitted to an election for recall, in which the reason for his recall is to be stated in 200 words and his defense is to be equally brief.

Learning, industry and a sense of justice are great attributes of the judicial office, but the greatest qualities in a judge are courage, independence and fearlessness. These qualities would be destroyed under such a system.

A judge on the bench under this new dispensation, before passing on the merits, might, if a weak man, first consider what decision was likely to allay dissatisfaction. In a case of importance he might first have to consider himself and then consider his duty as a judge.

A worse system has never been devised. Indeed, it may be said that such a provision is absolutely destructive of a stable judicial system, and under the American conception of a republican form of government there must be the three separate and independent divisions of government — the executive, the legislative and the judiciary.

If there be no judicial system whatever, or one so defective as to be absolutely worthless and a menace to law and order, an essential requirement of a republican form of government is lacking, and in such a case the Congress would be amply justified in withholding the privilege of Statehood.

In regard to the reapportionment bill, the House of Representatives has adopted, on the basis of the last census, a resolution providing for an increase of the membership of the House from 391 to 433. Under the present apportionment, the average constituency is 192,128. Under the new proposed apportionment, the number will be 211,877. There is opposition to the bill in the Senate, upon the ground that the House will become too large for deliberate work, although the British Parliament has 670 members, and the Chamber of Deputies in France has 584. The bill is still in the census committee, but it is hoped that it will be reported soon with the prospect of its final passage.

As I have said, gentlemen, on account of its great wealth, population and widespread business activities, the State of New York is deeply affected by national legislation and by reason of its commanding position in the Union, its actions exert a strong influence on the policies of other States. Therefore, in view of the important pending measures which I have briefly outlined to you, and of other proposed laws, which I shall not dwell upon at this busy stage of your deliberations, it is especially urgent that we be alert and vigorous in safe-guarding and advancing the rights and fortunes of this State, and in contributing on its behalf, services which will strengthen and benefit the nation.

A message from the Governor was received and read, in words following:

STATE OF NEW YORK — EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,

ALBANY, June 7, 1911.

To the Assembly:

I herewith return, without my approval, Assembly bill (Printed No. 946), entitled "An act to amend the Forest, Fish and Game Law, in relation to eel weirs in the Delaware river."

This bill is objected to by the Forest, Fish and Game Commission. In a communication with reference to this bill they say:

"The Delaware river is one of the best bass rivers in the State of New York. The chief menace to the supply of this and other game fish is the eel weir. The Commissioner of Fisheries of Pennsylvania has written this Commission stating that he hopes the bill will not pass the New York Legislature for the reason that a bill has been introduced in the Pennsylvania Legislature to abolish eel weirs and 'there is every indication that it will pass. New Jersey and Pennsylvania jointly forbid fish baskets in the Delaware river below Port Jervis and if a bill were introduced into our Legislature to permit fish baskets in the Delaware river above Port Jervis I should have to oppose it.'"

For these reasons I disapprove the bill.

JOHN A. DIX.

On motion of Mr. Evans, said message together with said bill was ordered laid upon the table.

Mr. Speaker presented the annual report of the New York State Veterinary College, which was laid upon the table and ordered printed.

(See Assembly Document No. 29.)

The Senate sent for concurrence the following entitled bills:

"An act to amend the Highway Law, in relation to construction of bridges on State highways" (No. 1607, Rec. No. 336), which was read the first time and referred to the committee on internal affairs.

"An act to amend the Insurance Law, in relation to establishing the office of State fire marshal, defining his powers and duties, and providing for his compensation and the maintenance of his office" (No. 1690, Rec. No. 337), which was read the first time.

On motion of Mr. Oliver, and by unanimous consent, said bill was read the second time and ordered to a third reading.

On motion of Mr. Oliver, and by unanimous consent, said bill was read the third time, having been printed and on the desks of the members in its final form at least three calendar legislative days prior to its final passage.

Mr. Speaker put the question whether the House would agree to the final passage of said bill, and it was determined in the affirmative, a majority of all the members elected to the Assembly voting in favor thereof, and three-fifths being present.

Ordered, That the Clerk return said bill to the Senate, with a message that the Assembly have concurred in the passage of the same.

Mr. Speaker: This House has been peculiarly fortunate during the present session in having had the pleasure of entertaining and listening to many prominent statesmen and citizens of our country.

It is my pleasure always to extend the privileges of the House to distinguished citizens who visit us from other States. I believe in illustrating to the people of our sister States just what New York State hospitality is, namely, of the good old Dutch kind. So that I say it has been a pleasure to me as occasion has afforded itself to introduce to the House the distinguished visitors who come to us. Thus to-day I have the distinguished honor of presenting to you one who graces perhaps one of the highest positions in the civilized world, a member of the United States Supreme Court and one of its oldest members, and one of its most distinguished and most respected throughout the length and breadth of our land.

I present to you, gentlemen, Justice John M. Harlan of the United States Supreme Court.

Justice Harlan: Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the Assembly. I believe I have entitled your body correctly—I feel as much honored to-day as I ever was tendered in my life that I should be presented to a part of the legislative branch of this imperial Commonwealth. I am greatly surprised to be in this position to-day, for it was far from any expectation that I had when I came to your State and city of doing more than passing through it after remaining a few hours. I am here in a measure accidentally.

I have the honor to have a member of my family a resident of this State, a granddaughter, and as I said a little while ago, young as I am, two great-grandchildren whom I usually see as I pass through your city to my summer resting place.

My habit is and has been for years when I went into another State, if time permitted, about the first thing or among the first things that I should do would be to pay my respects to the highest officer of that State. Yesterday I had the pleasure of meeting your Governor and the judges of the highest tribunal in this State, and I paid my respects to the Speaker of the Senate, and I want here to-day to pay my respects to your distinguished Speaker.

I did not suppose that any one would know that I was here, if only to look in upon this magnificent meeting room. But when I got into the hands of the Speaker, I saw there was no getting rid of it. I had to do what I am now doing, say a few words. I said to one of your members “Why, what have I to say; what can I say to these members here?” “Well,” said he, “talk like a father would talk to his children.” I did not like that compliment, but he said it in a kindly spirit.

But not exactly pursuing that line of thought, I want to express my agreeable surprise to see how many of your legislators are young men, the hope of the country. Some think, or profess to think, that our country is on the down grade, that we are approaching serious times, perhaps revolution under one disguise or another. I only wish to say for myself I have no forebodings of that sort.

I have more faith in the American people than I ever had before. There are perhaps more public men of doubtful character in public life than there was many years ago; but we have now ninety millions of people and must expect more; but isn't it true and don't we all feel it is true that the popular conception of the duty of a representative of the people is higher than it ever was, for never before at any time in the history of our country is it more certain than that a public man consults the interests of his people and is guided alone by what are the best interests of the people, particularly if he adds to that a private life that is pure and clean it is certain that some time or other he will receive his reward. That may be said of all the people of the United States.

I am one of those who believe that there is more than commonly supposed in those words of our Constitution in its preamble when it states that this government is ordained by the people of the United States. The people mean what is right. And the most certain thing in all the public affairs of this country is that if you will give the people time to think and discuss all the public questions fully and fairly before them that their final judgment is better than the judgment of any political convention or any similar body of men.

I have faith that all is right, I have abundant faith that in the great work that is before this American people no part of that people will do more than the people of this great State of New York.

Now I have said more than I intended to say. I drop these things just as they occur to me. And it only remains to me to thank you, as I do from the bottom of my heart, for this great honor that is done me. And in the long time that I have been in the public service I have received no honor that I prize more than I do this.

A message from the Governor was received and read, in the words following:

STATE OF NEW YORK — EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,

To the Assembly:

ALBANY, June 12, 1911.

I return herewith, without my approval, Assembly bill (Printed No. 207), entitled "An act to amend the County Law, in relation to the compensation of supervisors and their expenses, in the counties of Putnam and Rockland."

This is a bill fixing the salaries of supervisors of Putnam county, and granting to the supervisors of Putnam and Rockland counties per diem compensation from the county while actually engaged in investigation or committee duties. This more than doubles the compensation of the supervisors of Putnam county and maintains the per diem charge for special services.

I consider this special legislation and therefore disapprove the bill.

JOHN A. DIX.

On motion of Mr. Blauvelt, said message together with said bill was ordered laid upon the table.

A message from the Governor was received and read, in the words following:

STATE OF NEW YORK — EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,

To the Assembly:

ALBANY, June 12, 1911.

I return herewith, without my approval, Assembly bill (Printed No. 965), entitled "An act to amend the Tax Law, in relation to the exemption and reduction in assessment of lands which have been planted with trees for forestry purposes."

The interests of the State make the increased forestation of our waste lands highly desirable, and the planting of trees should be encouraged by wise legislation, even going to the extent of exempting from taxation plantations, large or small, intended for reforestation. The provisions of this bill, however, in my judgment, give too much opportunity for the evasion of proper taxes. Lands of great value in thickly settled districts could, under its terms, be made free from tax until such time as the owner desired to take advantage of the unearned increment. The saving of taxation on waste lands would in many cases be so small that it would not be an incentive to the owner to go to the large extent of tree planting for that purpose alone.

I am in favor of careful consideration of this subject by the Forest, Fish and Game Commission, and the preparation of an act which will secure proper taxation while encouraging the planting of trees.

For these reasons I disapprove this bill.

JOHN A. DIX.

Ordered, That the Clerk return said bill to the Senate, with a message that the Assembly have reconsidered their vote on the final passage of said bill, and, as amended, have again passed the same.

A message was received from the Senate, in the words following:

IN SENATE, June 11, 1911.

Pursuant to concurrent resolution of the Senate and Assembly, the Governor returned the Senate bill (No. 521, Reprint No. 1857, Rec. No. 85), entitled "An act to amend the State Boards and Commissions Law, in relation to proceedings by State Water Supply Commission upon approval of petition for improvement of rivers and water courses."

The vote upon the final passage of the said bill having been reconsidered, on motion of Mr. Ferris, and by unanimous consent, the same was amended as follows:

Strike out all after enacting clause and insert:

"Section 1. Section twelve of chapter fifty-six of the Laws of nineteen hundred and nine, entitled 'An act in relation to State boards and commissions, constituting chapter fifty-four of the Consolidated Laws,' as amended by chapter thirty-six of the Laws of nineteen hundred and eleven, is hereby amended to read as follows:

"§ 12. Proceedings upon approval of petition for river improvement. If such commission shall determine that a more beneficial flow of water in such river or water course can be had by construction of dykes, clearing out or changing the channel, the erection of a dam or dams or other public works thereon, or upon any tributary thereof, it shall cause to be made preliminary plans and specifications of such proposed improvements, together with a survey of the lands upon which such improvements are to be located, giving the location thereof, and of all lands to be taken, flowed or damaged thereby with a description by survey or otherwise, of all rights affected thereby and estimates of the total cost thereof. The Commission shall also cause a map to be made showing all such lands, the number of acres in each separate tract and the names of the owners and occupants thereof so far as the said Commission can ascertain the same. The Commission or the members thereof may enter upon such lands as the Commission shall deem necessary for the purpose of doing such work, either by themselves or by their engineers, agents or servants employed by them for that purpose. The Commission shall also prepare a statement or list of the counties, towns, cities, villages and individual properties which in its judgment will be benefited thereby, together with a statement of the proportional share of said total cost which should be borne by the said counties, towns, cities and villages, respectively, and by the individual owners of property benefited collectively, expressed in decimals; and in case any part or proportion of the cost of such improvement is not properly assessable upon the counties, towns, cities, villages or individual properties, or any of them, as not in the nature of a local improvement, such part or proportion of the expense shall be deducted from the total cost before apportioning the same upon the counties, towns, cities, villages, and individual properties as aforesaid, and shall be certified by the said commission to the Legislature as a State charge. Such preliminary maps, plans, specifications, estimates and statements shall thereupon be filed in the office of the Commission and in the county clerk's office of each county wherein is situated land to be taken or flowed by such proposed improvements and of each county in which any of the aforesaid towns, cities, villages or individual properties benefited are situated. Upon the completion and filing of such preliminary maps, plans, specifications, estimates and statements, the Commission shall give notice of the filing thereof, and of the time and place where said Commission will give a hearing to persons interested therein, by advertising for two successive weeks in two newspapers published in each county where such improvement is proposed to be made and in the State paper published at Albany, at which time and place any person interested may appear and make any objection to or suggest any modification in said plans, maps and specifications, and said Commission shall have power to adjourn said hearing from time to time as justice may require. Thereupon said Commission shall determine whether such proposed improvement shall be abandoned or proceeded with and what, if any, modifications should be made in such plans, maps, specifications, estimates and statements and shall make such modifications. If said Commission shall determine that said maps should be modified, so as to include territory to be taken or flowed, not included in the maps already filed, then they shall cause modified maps, specifications, estimates and statements to be prepared and filed as hereinbefore provided, for said preliminary maps, plans, specifications, estimates and statements, and shall give notice of their completion and filing and of a hearing thereupon, in the manner hereinbefore prescribed for a hearing upon said preliminary maps, plans, specifications, estimates and statements. If said Commission shall finally determine that the proposed improvement be made, it shall thereupon make a final order directing the same to be made, and shall cause to be prepared final maps and detailed plans, specifications and estimates of the total cost thereof. The Commission shall cause the said final order, maps, plans, specifications and estimates or duplicates thereof, certified by them, to be filed in the office of the county clerk of each county in which lands affected or benefited thereby are located. No such improvement shall be undertaken under this article pursuant to any such final order, or any other proceedings had thereon except as hereinbefore provided, until after the said final order shall have been approved by a subsequent act of the Legislature, which act shall authorize and direct such improvement to be made. If so approved, the said final order shall become effectual and not otherwise. The Commission shall have power to make such minor changes in the said final map, plans and order as the nature of the work may require, provided that such changes shall not add to exceed ten per centum to the cost of executing the plans embraced in such final order as approved by such act of the Legislature; and provided, further, that if any such minor changes shall add more than ten per centum to the cost of any such improvement, a final order for which has been approved by an act of the Legislature, the Commission shall publish such fact and shall give a hearing thereon as in the first instance with special reference to such increased cost of improvement, and shall await thereafter a further and final approval by subsequent act of the Legislature.

“§ 2. This act shall take effect immediately.”

Said bill, as amended, was reprinted, re-engrossed, and having been on the desks of the members three legislative days, was passed and ordered sent to the Assembly for concurrence.

STATE OF NEW YORK — EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,

ALBANY, June 13, 1911.

To the Assembly:

I herewith return, without my approval, Assembly bill (Printed No. 183, Senate Reprint No. 1440), entitled "An act to amend chapter one hundred and eighteen of the Laws of eighteen hundred and ninety-seven, entitled 'An act to make the office of county clerk of Oswego county a salaried office, and regulating the management of said office, and fixing the salary of said clerk and his assistants,' in relation to the number and compensation of subordinate clerks and assistants in the office of said county clerk and the powers of the board of supervisors of said county in respect thereto."

I have before me now for approval a general bill amending the County Law, conferring upon boards of supervisors the right to fix the salary of every county official or employee except county judge and surrogate. Under that general bill the purpose sought by this bill can be accomplished, and for that reason this bill is disapproved.

JOHN A. DIX.

I herewith return, without my approval, Assembly bill (Printed No. 1097), entitled "An act to amend the General Business Law, in relation to the certification of public accountants."

This bill amends the General Business Law in relation to the certification of public accountants. I am satisfied that the proposed amendment made by this bill weakens the law as it now stands. It is strongly objected to by the New York State Society of Certified Public Accountants.

I therefore disapprove the bill.

This bill is clearly unconstitutional and for that reason I cannot approve it.

JOHN A. DIX.

On motion of Mr. Gurnett, said message together with said bill was ordered laid upon the table.

A message from the Governor was received and read, in the words following:

STATE OF NEW YORK — EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,

A message from the Governor was received and read, in words following:

STATE OF NEW YORK — EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,

ALBANY, June 14, 1911.

To the Assembly:

I herewith return, without my approval, Assembly bill (Printed No. 1544), entitled "An act to provide for the construction of a highway bridge over the Mohawk river at dam five, between the towns of Glenville and Rotterdam, and making an appropriation therefor."

This bill appropriates the sum of $40,000 for the purpose of the construction of a highway bridge over the Mohawk river at dam number 5, between the towns of Glenville and Rotterdam. The bill is objected to by the Superintendent of Public Works.

There is no obligation on the part of the State to build this bridge, and owing to the condition of the State finances this year I am satisfied that this appropriation should not be made at this time.

I therefore disapprove the bill.

JOHN A. DIX.

On motion of Mr. Myers, said message together with said bill was ordered laid upon the table.

STATE OF NEW YORK — EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,

To the Assembly:

I herewith return, without my approval, Assembly bill (Printed No. 1311), entitled "An act to provide for the payment of certain local assessments against State property in the city of Schenectady, and making an appropriation therefor."

This bill makes an appropriation of $1,274.79, for the purpose of paying to the city of Schenectady all assessments against State lands in such city. This bill is objected to by the Comptroller. "§ 332. Form of ballot for questions submitted. Whenever the adoption of a constitutional amendment or any other proposition or question is to be submitted to the vote of the voters of the State, or of any district thereof, a separate ballot shall be provided by the same officers who are charged by law with the duty of providing the official ballots for candidates for public office. Such ballots shall comply with the requirements of official ballots for candidates for public office, in so far as such requirements are applicable thereto.

"Under the perforated line shall be clearly printed, in brevier lower case type, the question of the adoption of the constitutional amendment or other proposition or question upon which the voters within the district for which such ballot is provided may lawfully vote. If there be more than one constitutional amendment or proposition or question to be submitted to the voters of that district, the different amendments or propositions or questions shall be separately numbered and printed, and separated by a broad solid line one-eighth of an inch wide. "All such ballots for the same polling place shall be the same color and size, and similarly printed, so that, after the removal of the stub, which shall be numbered as in case of ballots for candidates for public office, it shall be impossible to identify or distinguish any one of such ballots from the others. On the back of each such ballot, below the stub, shall be printed in addition to the indorsement as prescribed for general ballots, the words 'Questions submitted,' so as to distinguish the said ballots from the official ballots for candidates for office.

All ballots for the submission of town propositions for raising or appropriating money for town purposes, or for incurring a town liability, to be voted at any town meeting in any town, shall be separate from all other ballots for the submission of other propositions or questions to the voters of such town to be voted at the same town meeting or election. Such ballots shall be in the form prescribed in this section and shall be indorsed 'propositions for town appropriations.'

"§ 341. Officers providing ballots and stationery. The clerk of each county, except the county of Erie and those counties the whole of which is within the city of New York, and in the county of Erie the commissioner of elections, shall provide the requisite number of official and sample ballots, cards of instructions, two poll books, distance markers, two tally sheets, inspectors' and ballot clerks' return blanks [three of each kind, one of each to be marked 'original'], pens, penholders, ink, black ink pad, and circular rubber stamp of not more than one-quarter of an inch in diameter upon one end of pencils having black lead, blotting paper, sealing wax and such other articles of stationery as may be necessary for the proper conduct of the election and the canvass of the votes, for each election district in such county and not within the city of New York, for each election to be held thereat, except when town meetings, city or village elections and election for school officers are not held at the same time as a general election, the clerk of such town, city or village, respectively, except in the city of Buffalo, shall provide such official and sample ballot and stationery for such election or town meeting. If the town meeting is held on general election day ballots and sample ballots for town propositions shall be provided by the town clerk in like manner and in the same form as at a town meeting held at any other time, and such town clerk shall also furnish inspectors' and ballot clerks' return blanks for making returns on town propositions or questions.

" In towns in which town meetings are held at the time of the general election in an odd-numbered year, the names of candidates for town offices shall be printed on the same ballot as the names of candidates for other offices voted for in such towns at such general elections. In towns in which town meetings are held on general election day in an even-numbered year, the names of candidates for town officers shall be printed in separate ballots; such ballots and sample ballots for town officers shall be provided by the town clerk in like manner and in the same form as at a town meeting held at any other time, and such town clerk shall also furnish inspectors' and ballot clerks' return blanks for making returns of votes cast for candidates for town offices at such an election, and the expense of furnishing such ballots, sample ballots and return blanks shall be a town charge. The inspectors of election, poll clerks and ballot clerks of each election district shall meet at the polling place therein at least one-half hour before the time set for opening the polls at each election for which official ballots are required to be provided, and shall proceed to arrange the space within the guard-rail and the furniture thereof, including the voting booths, for the orderly and legal conduct of the election.

" The inspectors of election shall then and there have the ballot boxes required by law for the reception of ballots to be voted thereat; the box for the reception of ballots found to be defective in printing or mutilated before delivery to, and ballots spoiled and returned by, voters; the box for the stubs of voted and spoiled ballots; the sealed packages of official ballots, sample ballots and instruction cards and distance markers, poll-books, tally sheets, return blanks, and other stationery required to be delivered to them for such election; and if it be an election at which registered voters only can vote, the register of such voters required to be made and kept therefor.

“The inspectors shall thereupon open the sealed packages of instruction cards and cause them to be posted conspicuously, at least one, and if printed in different languages, at least one of each language, in each of the voting booths of such polling place, and at least three of each language in which they are printed in or about the polling place; shall open the sealed packages of official ballots and sample ballots, and place them in charge of the ballot clerks, and shall place the poll-books in charge of the poll clerks, and shall cause to be placed at a distance of one hundred feet from the polling place the visible markers designated herein as ‘distance markers,’ to prohibit ‘loitering or electioneering’ within such distance. They shall also, before any ballots are cast, see that the voting booths are supplied with black ink pads, and a circular rubber stamp of not more than one-quarter of an inch in diameter upon one end of pencils having black lead only, unlock the ballot boxes, see that they are empty, allow the watchers present to examine them, and shall lock them up again while empty in such manner that the watchers present and persons just outside the guard-rail can see that such boxes are empty when they are relocked.

“After such boxes are relocked they shall not be unlocked or opened until the closing of the polls of such election, and, except as authorized by law, no ballots or other matter shall be placed in them after they are so relocked and before the announcement of the result of such canvass and the signing of the original statement of canvass and the two certified copies thereof. The instruction cards and distance markers posted as provided by law shall not be taken down, torn or defaced during such election. The ballot clerks with the official and sample ballots, the inspectors with such boxes and register of voters, and the poll clerks with their poll-books, shall be stationed as near each other as practicable within such inclosed space. One of the inspectors shall then make proclamation that the polls of the election are open, and of the time in the afternoon when the polls will be closed.”

On motion of Mr. A. E. Smith, the House adjourned.

MONDAY, JUNE 26, 1911.

The House met pursuant to adjournment.

Prayer by Rev. Geo. A. Armstrong, Cohoes.

On motion of Mr. A. E. Smith, the reading of the journal of Friday, June 23d, was dispensed with and the same was approved.

A message from the Governor was received and read, in the words following:

STATE OF NEW YORK — EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,
ALBANY, June 26, 1911.

To the Assembly:

I herewith return, without my approval, Assembly bill (Printed No. 1860), entitled "An act to amend the Education Law, in relation to establishing a State veterinary college at New York University in the city of New York."

This bill increases the work of the State in its activities in establishing an independent veterinary college in connection with the New York University in the city of New York. It necessarily carries with it increased State expenditures. Owing to the condition of the State finances, I am of the opinion that this appropriation ought not to be made at this time. I am satisfied that the State now has sufficient accommodations in the State Veterinary College to take care of the students who desire to study veterinary medicine and for these reasons I disapprove the bill.

On motion of Mr. Goldberg, said message together with said bill was ordered laid upon the table.

A message from the Governor was received and read, in the words following:

STATE OF NEW YORK — EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,
ALBANY, June 26, 1911.

To the Assembly:

I herewith return, without my approval, Assembly bill (Printed No. 2211), entitled "An act to establish a State school of agriculture in the county of Greene, and making an appropriation therefor."

The teaching of agriculture in the schools of the State, in my judgment, is most important. I think that the subject should be taught in the common schools and high schools of the State, so that every person who desires to do so might obtain instruction in agricultural lines.

I am opposed to the establishment of any additional agricultural schools and therefore return this bill without my approval.

JOHN A. DIX.

On motion of Mr. Patrie, said message together with said bill was ordered laid upon the table.

A message from the Governor was received and read, in the words following:

STATE OF NEW YORK — EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,
ALBANY, June 26, 1911.

To the Assembly:

I herewith return, without my approval, Assembly bill (Printed No. 1714), entitled "An act to authorize the Comptroller of the State of New York to hear and determine the application of Charles E. Hulbert for the cancellation of the eighteen hundred and seventy-seven tax sale of the southwesterly part of lot sixty-eight in Atkinson tract in great lot number thirty-seven in Hardenburgh patent."

If the restrictions in the existing general law are unjust or operate unfairly, they should be amended so as to provide relief for those who suffer injury from illegal or defective tax sales. This relief should not however be granted by special acts but should apply to all in the same class.

I therefore disapprove the bill.

JOHN A. DIX.

On motion of Mr. Wheeler, said message together with said bill was ordered laid upon the table.

A message from the Governor was received and read, in the words following:

STATE OF NEW YORK — EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,
ALBANY, June 26, 1911.

To the Assembly:

I herewith return, without my approval, Assembly bill (Printed No. 1335), entitled "An act to authorize the Comptroller of the State to hear and determine the application of Charles Dougherty for the redemption from the tax sale made by the Comptroller in nineteen hundred of lot number one hundred and thirteen of township number twenty-six, Totten and Crossfield's purchase, Essex county."

If the restrictions in the existing general law are unjust or operate unfairly, they should be amended so as to provide relief for those who suffer injury from illegal or defective tax sales. This relief should not however be granted by special acts but should apply to all in the same class.

I therefore disapprove the bill.

JOHN A. DIX.

On motion of Mr. Shea, said message together with said bill was ordered laid upon the table.

A message from the Governor was received and read, in the words following:

STATE OF NEW YORK — EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,
ALBANY, June 26, 1911.

To the Assembly:

I herewith return, without my approval, Assembly bill (Printed No. 1452), entitled "An act to amend chapter one hundred and eighty of the Laws of nineteen hundred, entitled 'An act in relation to unpaid taxes in the towns of the county of Putnam,' in relation to the charge for publishing notice of sale."

This bill amends a special act in relation to the charges which shall be paid for publishing certain notices in the county of Putnam. Under the present law the charges for publishing notices of tax sales is one dollar. It is provided by this amendment that such notices shall be paid for at the rate of thirty cents per folio for each insertion. I am of the opinion that this great increase, which would be borne by the taxpayers of that locality, is not justifiable and for that reason I disapprove the bill.

JOHN A. DIX.

On motion of Mr. Yale, said message together with said bill was ordered laid upon the table.

A message from the Governor was received and read, in the words following:

STATE OF NEW YORK — EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,
ALBANY, June 26, 1911.

To the Assembly:

I herewith return, without my approval, Assembly bill (Printed No. 1576), entitled "An act to extend the time within which the Liberty and Jeffersonville Electric Railroad Company shall finish its road, and put it in operation beyond its present construction."

This bill extends the time within which the Liberty and Jeffersonville Electric Railroad Company shall finish its road and put it in operation beyond its present construction. According to the provisions of the bill, the time within which the corporation has to complete its road expired on April 1, 1911. The attempt by this bill to revive and extend the corporate existence of a defunct corporation is clearly beyond the power of the Legislature, and is unconstitutional. I therefore disapprove the bill.

JOHN A. DIX.

On motion of Mr. Evans, said message together with said bill was ordered laid upon the table.

A message from the Governor was received and read, in words following:

STATE OF NEW YORK — EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,
ALBANY, June 26, 1911.

To the Assembly:

I herewith return, without my approval, Assembly bill (Printed No. 2076), entitled "An act to amend chapter four hundred and eighty-eight of the Laws of eighteen hundred and eighty-nine, entitled 'An act to regulate the compensation of the board of supervisors of the county of Columbia,' in relation to fixing such compensation."

This bill amends the special acts in relation to the salary of the supervisors of Columbia county and increase the salaries of supervisors from $300 to $500 per annum. I know of no necessity for this great increase. I therefore disapprove the bill.

JOHN A. DIX.

On motion of Mr. Saunders, said message together with said bill was ordered laid upon the table.

A message from the Governor was received and read, in the words following:

STATE OF NEW YORK — EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,
ALBANY, June 26, 1911.

To the Assembly:

I herewith return, without my approval, Assembly bill (Printed No. 1645), entitled "An act to amend the Code of Civil Procedure, relative to the manner of serving citations on judicial accounting where the number of persons to be served exceeds twenty-five."

I am not satisfied that the proposed amendment is wise or necessary. Simply because there has been one case where a large number of people had to be served by citation in a surrogate's court is no justification, in my judgment, for changing the present law. This bill is also objected to by the Committee on the Amendment of the Law of the Bar Association of the City of New York and by the County Bar Association. I am satisfied that this is an unnecessary innovation in the existing practice, and I therefore disapprove the bill.

JOHN A. DIX.

On motion of Mr. W. R. Herrick, said message together with said bill was ordered laid upon the table.

A message from the Governor was received and read, in the words following:

STATE OF NEW YORK — EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,
ALBANY, June 26, 1911.

To the Assembly:

I herewith return, without my approval, Assembly bill (Printed No. 419, Senate Reprint No. 1956), entitled "An act to provide for a monument in the city of New York, to commemorate the deeds of the soldiers of the Sixty-third, Sixty-ninth and the Eighty-eighth Regiments of New York Volunteer Infantry, Meagher's Irish Brigade, which served in the War of the Rebellion from eighteen hundred and sixty-one to eighteen hundred and sixty-five, and to make an appropriation therefor."

The object sought by this bill is a worthy one and the appropriation made is not large, but I am satisfied that even this small appropriation should not be granted at this time.

I therefore disapprove the bill.

JOHN A. DIX.

On motion of Mr. Cuvillier, said message together with said bill was ordered laid upon the table.

A message from the Governor was received and read, in words following:

STATE OF NEW YORK — EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,
ALBANY, June 26, 1911.

To the Assembly:

I herewith return, without my approval, Assembly bill (Printed No. 2189), entitled "An act to authorize the Comptroller of the State to hear and determine the applications of James Harvey, Julius Poupore and Dominic Trombly for the cancellation of certain tax sales regarding portions of lot eighty-five, township six, Old Military tract, Clinton county, and the application of John Ash to cancel certain tax sales affecting one hundred and fourteen acres of land in lot sixty-one, township six, Old Military tract, Clinton county."

If the restrictions in the existing general law are unjust or operate unfairly, they should be amended so as to provide relief for those who suffer injury from illegal or defective tax sales. This relief should not however be granted by special acts but should apply to all in the same class.

I therefore disapprove the bill.

JOHN A. DIX.

On motion of Mr. Trombly, said message together with said bill was ordered laid upon the table.

A message from the Governor was received and read, in the words following:

STATE OF NEW YORK — EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,
ALBANY, June 26, 1911.

To the Assembly:

I herewith return, without my approval, Assembly bill (Printed No. 1508), entitled "An act to provide for placing a bronze statue to Brevet Major-General Alexander Stewart Webb, deceased, on the battlefield of Gettysburg."

This bill appropriates the sum of $3,000 for the purpose of placing a bronze statue to Brevet Major-General Alexander Stewart Webb on the battlefield of Gettysburg. I am not unmindful that the State owes a duty in placing monuments to persons who have served their country in time of stress, but owing to the conditions of the State finances at the present time I do not think that this expenditure should be made, and for this reason I disapprove the bill.

(Signed) JOHN A. DIX.

On motion of Mr. A. E. Smith, said message together with said bill was ordered laid upon the table.

A message from the Governor was received and read, in the words following:

STATE OF NEW YORK — EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,
ALBANY, June 25, 1911.

To the Assembly:

I herewith return, without my approval, Assembly bill (Printed No. 167), entitled "An act to amend the Greater New York charter, in relation to licensing operators of moving picture apparatus and its connections."

This bill is unnecessary special legislation for the reason that chapter 252 of the Laws of 1911 amends the General City Law by providing for licensing persons to operate moving picture apparatus in cities of the first class. This bill contains many of the features of such law. It does not, however, require a person to serve as an apprentice.

There is no reason why there should be a general law applicable to cities of the first class and also a special law taking out of that class one particular city; for this reason I disapprove the bill.

JOHN A. DIX.

On motion of Mr. Higgins, said message together with said bill was ordered laid upon the table.

A message from the Governor was received and read, in the words following:

STATE OF NEW YORK — EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,
ALBANY, June 25, 1911.

To the Assembly:

I herewith return, without my approval, Assembly bill (Printed No. 1334), entitled "An act to authorize the Comptroller of the State to hear and determine the application of Charles L. Weeks and Bertha W. Carson for the cancellation of the tax sale of lot number one hundred and forty-one, Paradox tract, Essex county, for unpaid taxes."

If the restrictions in the existing general law are unjust or operate unfairly, they should be amended so as to provide relief for those who suffer injury from illegal or defective tax sales. This relief should not however be granted by special acts but should apply to all in the same class.

I therefore disapprove the bill.

JOHN A. DIX.

On motion of Mr. Shea, said message together with said bill was ordered laid upon the table.

A message from the Governor was received and read, in the words following:

STATE OF NEW YORK — EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,
ALBANY, June 25, 1911.

To the Assembly:

I herewith return, without my approval, Assembly bill (Printed No. 837), entitled "An act to legalize certain proceedings of the village of Waterloo, in Seneca county, its legal voters, trustees, officers and agents relating to the establishment of a sewer system and disposal plant, including the making of contracts and issue of village bonds therefor, and to authorize the execution and sale of such bonds and provide for their payment from moneys to be raised by taxation in said village."

As I understand the provisions of this bill, the questions involved are now before the Court of Appeals for determination. It is attempted by this bill to settle a law suit, a policy which has not been approved by any Governor for years. It will be noted that legalizing bills generally contain a clause, "This act shall not affect any section or proceeding pending in any court at the time it takes effect." There is no such provision in this act.

I am opposed to settling litigation by act of the Legislature. I therefore disapprove the bill.

JOHN A. DIX.

On motion of Mr. Cosad, said message together with said bill was ordered laid upon the table.

A message from the Governor was received and read, in the words following:

STATE OF NEW YORK — EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,

To the Assembly:

I herewith return, without my approval, Assembly bill (Printed No. 152, Senate Reprint No. 1407), entitled "An act to amend the Agricultural Law, in relation to actions against agricultural societies."

This bill establishes a different rule as to actions against agricultural societies than that provided for by the general law. There is no reason for such exception, and for that reason I disapprove the bill.
